

22nd Annual Andrea Carson Coley Lecture
presented by

Dr. Mollie Blackburn,

Professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, and in the Department of Sexuality Studies at the Ohio State University

"Talking about Race, Religion,
Sex, & Violence in Relation to
LGBT-themed Literature"

Friday, April 29th, 2016

12:30 p.m.

M. Smith Griffith Auditorium,
Georgia Museum of Art

A reception honoring the Coley family will precede the lecture at 11:30 a.m.

22nd Annual Andrea Carson Coley Lecture
presented by

Dr. Mollie Blackburn,

Professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, and in the Department of Sexuality Studies at the Ohio State University

"Talking about Race, Religion,
Sex, & Violence in Relation to
LGBT-themed Literature"

Friday, April 29th, 2016

12:30 p.m.

M. Smith Griffith Auditorium,
Georgia Museum of Art

A reception honoring the Coley family will precede the lecture at 11:30 a.m.

Dr. Mollie Blackburn

Professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, and in the Department of Sexuality Studies at the Ohio State University

"Talking about Race, Religion, Sex, & Violence in Relation to LGBT-themed Literature"

When: Friday, April 29, 2016

Reception at 11:30 a.m., Lecture at 12:30 p.m.

Where: M. Smith Griffith Auditorium, GMOA

Co-sponsored by: GMOA and the LGBT Resource
Center

The Andrea Carson Coley Lecture in Women's Studies was made possible by a generous donation from Andrew and Kathy Coley in memory of their daughter, Andrea Carson Coley (1972-1993), who was a certificate candidate in Women's Studies at UGA. Each year, the Andrea Carson Coley Lecture brings to campus outstanding scholars in the field of LGBT studies.

Dr. Mollie Blackburn

Professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, and in the Department of Sexuality Studies at the Ohio State University

"Talking about Race, Religion, Sex, & Violence in Relation to LGBT-themed Literature"

When: Friday, April 29, 2016

Reception at 11:30 a.m., Lecture at 12:30 p.m.

Where: M. Smith Griffith Auditorium, GMOA

Co-sponsored by: GMOA and the LGBT Resource
Center

The Andrea Carson Coley Lecture in Women's Studies was made possible by a generous donation from Andrew and Kathy Coley in memory of their daughter, Andrea Carson Coley (1972-1993), who was a certificate candidate in Women's Studies at UGA. Each year, the Andrea Carson Coley Lecture brings to campus outstanding scholars in the field of LGBT studies.